Dear Mr. Craven:

This is the Partial Initial Agency Decision (IAD) to your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request to the Office of the Secretary, U.S. Dept. of Veterans Affairs (OSVA) dated and received October 17, 2018, and assigned FOIA tracking number 19-00614-F. You requested: "All email communication between White House advise [sic] Jake Leinenkugel and members of the COVER Commission between July 1, 2018 and the present day. Keywords include 'hyperbaric oxygen,' 'alternative treatment' 'lobbying,' 'Heller,' 'evidence,' and 'PTSD.'"

Partial IAD & Reasonable Searches Dated 10/17/18 & 2/22/19

On October 17, 2018, our search cut-off date, and February 22, 2019, our follow-up search date, the OSVA FOIA Officer searched through Jake Leinenkugel's email boxes from July 1, 2018, to October 17, 2018. OSVA looked for communication with COVER Commission members Thomas Beeman, Matthew Amidon, Wayne Jonas, Jamil Khan, Shira Maguen, John Rose, Sheila Hickman, Shannon Beattie, Luis Carrillo, Fernanda Carrion, Alicia Carriquiry, Yessenia Castillo, Kristiann Dickson, Beth Engiles, Tracy Gaudet, Laura McMahon, Frances Murphy, Stacey Pollack, Kavitha Reddy, Beth Taylor, Wendy Tenhula, Drew Trojanowski, and Alison Whitehead. The OSVA FOIA Officer used the following search terms: "hyperbaric oxygen," "alternative treatment," "lobbying," "Heller," "evidence," and "PTSD."

This search yielded two thousand four hundred twenty (2,420) pages, of which OSVA now releases ninety-eight (98) pages. OSVA intends to send you the remaining two thousand three hundred twenty-two (2,322) pages, possibly redacted, in the future. After reviewing the ninety-eight (98) pages, OSVA redacts some information with FOIA Exemptions 5 and 6.

5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(5) exempts from disclosure "inter-agency or intra-agency memorandums or letters which would not be available by law to a party other than an agency in litigation with the agency." The government is entitled to redact confidential government information given "the sensitivity of the commercial secrets involved, and the harm that would be inflicted upon the Government by premature disclosure." Federal Open Market Committee v. Merrill, 443 U.S. 340, 363 (1979). Redacted information includes VA electronic mail server code usernames. The release of this information would expose the VA, its employees, and its contractors to potential hacking and information technology security liabilities and risks. Releasing even a single VA username reveals the pattern to ascertain VA usernames that VA employees use to log into VA Systems of Records; releasing VA usernames exposes the VA, its employees, and its contractors to potential hacking and information technology security liabilities and risks.

5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(6) exempts from required disclosure "personnel and medical files and similar files the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy." FOIA Exemption 6 permits VA to withhold a document or information within a document if disclosure of the information, either by itself or in conjunction with other information available to either the public or the FOIA requester, would result in an unwarranted invasion of an individual's personal privacy without contributing significantly to the public's understanding of the activities of the federal government. Specifically, the information being withheld, as indicated on the enclosed documents, under FOIA Exemption 6, consists of names, identities, email addresses, VA usernames, phone numbers, cellular numbers, and facsimile numbers of federal employees and private citizens; we however release the names and VA contact information of VA Senior Executives. Federal civilian employees and private citizens retain a significant privacy interest under certain circumstances, such as in instances where the release of their information could represent a threat to their well-being, harassment, or their ability to function within their sphere of employment. The federal civilian employees and private citizens whose information is at issue have a substantial privacy interest in their personal information. In weighing the private versus the public interest, except names and VA contact information of VA Senior Executives, we find that there is no public interest in knowing the names, identities, email addresses, VA usernames, phone numbers, cellular numbers, and facsimile numbers of federal civilian employees and private citizens. The coverage of FOIA Exemption 6 is absolute unless the FOIA requester can demonstrate a countervailing public interest in the requested information by demonstrating that the FOIA requester is in a position to provide the requested information to members of the general public and that the information requested contributes significantly to the public's understanding of the activities of the Federal government. Additionally, the requester must demonstrate how the public's need to understand the information significantly outweighs the privacy interest of the person to whom the information pertains. Upon consideration of the records, I have not been able to identify a countervailing public interest of sufficient magnitude to outweigh the privacy interest of the individuals whose names are redacted. The protected information has been redacted and (b)(6) inserted. Releasing even a single VA username reveals the pattern to ascertain VA usernames that VA employees use to log into VA Systems of Records; releasing VA usernames exposes the VA, its employees, and its contractors to potential hacking and information technology security liabilities and risks. "Withholding a telephone number or e-mail address, alone, is not sufficient to protect that [privacy] interest; alternate means of contacting and harassing these employees would be readily discoverable on the Internet if this court ordered their names disclosed." Long v. Immigration & Customs Enf't, 2017 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 160719 (D.C. Cir. 2017).
